

6.8 Graystones 5

Images from the walk to the waymarker tree.

Follow the tributary from Tom Rudd Beck, running in the low cleft seen here (to the left) through old twisted hawthorn, as you near the group of waymarker larch.

Find the stream crossing near here, in a lovely huddle of bent old hawthorn, with the larch spreading out above.

The larch are upright – weather-beaten, but elegant – the loftiest trees for a long distance.