

1.6 Great Mell Fell 3

Images from the walk to the waymarker tree.

The summit, looking somewhat forlorn. This view contemplates the farmlands beyond Greystoke, northwest to Bowscale Fell and Carrock Fell. There's no vestige of "the decayed tree-trunk".

Is this "the decayed tree-trunk" or mere coincidence? Given its shape, it seems most likely (to me) that it is the remnant of the original summit marker drawn by AW, cast aside and long forgotten.
