

3.9 Loughrigg Fell 10

Images from the walk to the waymarker tree.

Overlooking Loughrigg Tarn, from the Grasmere-Skelwith Bridge road, a small irregular group and scattered individuals of juniper are evident, seen directly above the woodland below Lad Crag.

A closer view indicates the low/modest numbers of juniper remaining at this site, growing across the upper fringes of the mid-level woodland, where they were once more prolific.
