

7.3 Lank Rigg 6

Images from the walk to the waymarker tree.

Seeing the waymarker rowans up-close for the first time, from above, having wandered upwards from the Calder/Whoap watersmeet.

Above: rowan and juniper adorn the steep sides of the infant river; and below: overhanging the twisting rocky channel with many pools and runnels, winding its way to the coast at Sellafield.

Silent rock pools a few metres above the rowan, completely unseen from the walker's path ascending Lank Rigg.
Note the far deep cleft, crowded with undisclosed trees.