

6.3 Broom Fell 4

Images from the walk to the waymarker tree.

The beautiful quiet woodland of Burthwaite Wood – a self-perpetuating treescape.

Left: low-growing associated woody plants – elder, hazel, viburnum and willow plus others – are incorporated into the woodland matrix, creating varied low-mid-upper layers of canopy; and right; mixed age classes are apparent, rendering biological/genetic strength and diversity to the overall woodland.